

Amendments to the Claims

22. (Currently Amended) The computer ~~readable medium program product~~ of claim 21 wherein the first parameter takes one or more values for enabling and disabling the processing of complex text, and wherein the one or more values for enabling and disabling the processing of complex text includes one or more values for determining indicates a paragraph direction for the bidirectional layout processing of the Unicode complex text.

26. (Currently Amended) The computer ~~readable medium program product~~ of claim 20 wherein the control parameter further includes a third parameter indicating text positioning at the completion of processing of the Unicode complex text. ~~first predetermined type of control~~ includes a second parameter represented by a corresponding value in the first predetermined type of control for determining an alternate text position, the programming instructions including instructions for setting a text position using said alternate text position if the first type of complex text processing is enabled.